A Country House,

And about 200 acres of Land, within 3 miles of Alexandria, will be sold by the subscriber. The house was formerly occupied by himself, and is about one third of a mile from his present dwelling. The situation is high and remarkably healthy. The house has 4 rooms, and a kitchen and pantry, on the lower floor, and four chambers with fire places in the 2d story. It was well built under the superintendance of Mr. Lovering, a respectable English architect, and would make a comfortable summer retreat for a genteel family, or might be made a valuable Tavern by opening a road through the land. About one half of the land is in wood; the residue is capable of being made handsome grounds. There is a good well and pump in the yard; and there are several good springs on the land.

The terms of payment will be one fifth in four months; the residue in four equal annual payments with interest; one half secured by notes well endorsed, and the whole by a deed of trust on the land.

Possession may be had immediately.

THE INTERPOSITION.

THROUGH yonder deep and lonely glen,
Shut from the cheerful light of day,
Far from the busy haunts of men,
A hapless stranger took his way.

Despair had mark'd his visage wan;
An awful something fired his eye:
The bloom of joy and health was gone,
And sorrow spoke in many a sigh.

He heard not, then, the feather'd choirs
That tune their song to hail the night,
Nor saw the glow of evening fires
That break successive on the sight.

The azure majesty of heaven,
The twilight beauty of the vale;
In vain to him such scenes were given
To calm his bosom's gloomy swell.

Ah! why that fearful, hurried gait!
The sudden stop, the half-formed tear!
As if the iron tongue of fate
Rung cold and dreadful on his ear.

Ah! why that wide and staring eye!
The frequent start of wild surprize!
Is it some monster hurtled by,
Or spectres broke the tomb to rise!

Far in the bosom of the wood,
A deep ravine is seen to wind:
Scoop'd by the whirlpools of some flood,
But all the cliffs were left behind.

Their weeping boughs here willows spread,
And meet the cypress' funeral gloom;
Here dwells the elm's eternal shade,
The owlet's and the raven's home.

If here, perchance, some ruder gale
Arrives, unnumber'd caves resound:
More sullen murmurs seem to swell
Of water falls beneath the ground.

The sturdy forest sons release
Their strong embrace, and wave their locks
O'er the dark bosom of th' abyss,
Expanding wide its mossy rocks.

Tradition tells that here of yore
A ruffian hand did cursed rights:
And bound by charms the infernal power,
To aid them with his hellish sprites.

The peasant, here, hath seen, 'tis said,
By pale blue death-lamps in the night,
The blood of shrieking infants shed,
And trembling left the unearthly sight.

'Twas here at length the stranger stood,
When sudden rose the death lamp's gleam:
He saw the rocks distilling blood,
And heard a feeble, dying scream.

Yet unappall'd, he rais'd his eye;
Despair and phrenzy mark'd his brow
This place, he murmur'd with a sigh
"Will end a lengthened life of wo."

And why must wretchedness pursue.
My path be cover'd o'er with ill
Where e'ever I rove, what'er I do,
The demon stings my bosom still

"Once happy in the nuptial tie,
And bless'd with all a patent's bliss.
Heaven robb'd me of my darling boy,
And das'h aside the cup of peace.

"And next the partner of my love,
In dying accents bade adieu,
I kiss'd the lips that ceas'd to move,
And pray'd that life might soon be thro'

"Then came a bold, relentless foe,
And seiz'd my flocks, and burnt my home,
My country sunk beneath the blow,
And far abroad her children roam.

"Scarce landed on some foreign shore,
Beyond the reach of human wrath,
When heaven sends forth the thunder's power,
And my companions blasts in death.

"Forlorn unpitied, unrepriev'd,
From any ill that fate bestows,
If e'er to heaven my heart has griev'd,
E'en heaven seems steel'd against my woes.

"God of creation, must thy wrath,
Pursue the creature thou has made?
Then take again th' unwelcome breath,"
The stranger smote his breast and said.

And forth a glittering dagger drew,
And plac'd it to the vital part:
"Adieu, thou world of wo adieu,
Come, death, and still an aching heart."

The imps of darkness held their breath.
To burst in triumph o'er his fall,
When swifter than the lightning's path,
And louder than the thunder's call:

An angel's voice, an angel's form,
Rush'd through the opening midnight sky:
"And durst thou, mortal, raise thine arm,
Against thy life, and durst thou die?"

The steel dropp'd harmless from his hand,
The cold sweat stood upon his brow:
The light has pass'd & darkness reign'd
And silence o'er the child of wo.

The back he wound his lonely way,
And sought the busy throng of men,
Resolv'd from that eventful day,
To take his lot of bliss or pain.

Whate'er of good or ill is given,
That to enjoy and this endure;
Submit to all controlling heaven,
And patient wait the appointed hour.

While friends & pleasures circle round
He blesses oft the guardian power,
That frequent strikes, but heals the wound,
And binds the culprit sin no more.

And thou, who read'st my humble rhyme,
Sink not at fortune's angry nod,
Nor rush uncall'd, before thy time,
O the dread presence of thy God.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.

In further perusing our latest English papers, we find the following articles respecting the arbitrary and avaricious mandates of the Spanish Government, under the auspices of the imbecile Ferdinand.—We copy them from the last Liverpool Mercury:

Spain.—By recent letters, we learn that a most arbitrary act has been committed by the Spanish government. The Kingdom of Navarre, is a portion of the Spanish monarchy which had its antient rights—a permanent body of deputies has existed, to whom the guardianship of these rights and privileges was confined This body had a right to declare whether any measures emanating from the king was contrary to the constitution of the province. An order was lately sent from the court, and the deputies, in the exercise of their privilege refused to sanction it. In consequence of this refusal, the viceroy (Espeleta) arrested the whole of them in their beds, and put them into prison.

By accounts from Rondo, July 30, it appears that there are great commotions in the Spanish armies. Officers and soldiers are constantly murmuring that the king thinks of nothing but of fattening the monks and curions like hogs, while the military are suffered to perish. The clamours have reached even Ferdinand, and have occasioned so much alarm, as to extort from him the following Royal Order, which has been circulated among the corps of the army:—

"The Secretary of State and Dispatches, and of Marine, has acquainted the king our Lord, that in the department of Ferol, a lieutenant of the navy, Don Josef Labradors, has perished of hunger & continued want, and also that the captain of a frigate, Don Pedo Quevedo, & another officer, have had the same fate; moreover, that a ship captain of the line, two of frigates, a commissary and many others of different ranks, were at the point of death: on which account he has set forth to the king, that the origin of this unfortunate situation of the well deserving, loyal, and worthy individuals of of the marine service, was the inequality with which the small or large sums at the disposal of the royal treasury have been portioned by the distributors of the said funds. And his majesty's mind having been, to the highest degree, affected by the statements and reflections of his said Secretary, he has been pleased to direct that his royal orders be rigorously observed, relative to the equality of the pay of persons in the marine service with that of all other public officers, in such manner that if to this meritorious class there can only be given only monthly, a half a third or a fourth of their pay, no other public officer shall absolutely receive more, whether he belong to the Royal Exchequer, the Military Service, the Civil or Eclesiastical And this I commune by royal order."

Signed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

This which it was thought would calm the troops; has only exasperated them the more: for it has only served to declare to them their rights without securing their being properly paid. Accordingly, the garrison of Malaga, broke out into mutiny, and attacked the Bishop's palace, throwing stones at, and breaking the windows, &c. Against the Bishop. (Father Canedo a famous comrade of Ostolaza in the courts,) they uttered dreadful threats: and the affair would have had serious consequences, had not some conciliatory persons interposed, and the Bishop brought forward a bag of dollars to pacify the mutineers.

The latest letters from Madrid, reaching down to the 3d of August, state, the councillor of state, Laroizabal, who was lately universal minister of the Indies, and who had a great share in recent iniquities, has been banished from court General Abadia, charged with organising the expeditions against America, has also been disgraced.

Arrival of the Missionaries at Ceylon.

By the arrival at Salem of the ship Herald from Calcutta, information has been received from the brig Dryad, which sailed from Newbury Port last October, with the American missionaries on board. Two letters were received in Newburyport from the supercargo, who informs that they arrived at Columbo in Ceylon, (not Calcutta, stated in some newspapers,) on the 22d of March last, after a very pleasant voyage. Their labors of love among the ship's crew, in giving them religious instructions, were blessed—two of the crew, it is hoped, became, through their instrumentality the subjects of Divine Grace. The missionaries met with a cordial reception from the governor of Ceylon, who expressed his willingness that the should pursue their work in Columbo or any other part of Ceylon, From the English and baptist missionaries at Ceylon, they received the most christian attention. At one of their houses, they were invited to reside, till they could be better accommodated. In a day, the dwelling house belonging to Rev Mr. Norton, a baptist missionary, becoming vacant, they established themselves in it, and the supercargo had the pleasure of dining with them at their own table. The brethren and their wives were in perfect health, Mrs. Warren, in the words of the writer, "is a new man," and Mrs. Poor is as well as any of the ladies. The Dryad, who is now it is supposed on he passage from Calcutta, is expected, in a few weeks with despatches from the missionaries themselves.

Vevay, Indiana, Sept. 8.

The uncommon late spring having destroyed a great part of the grapes, the vintage will not be as abundant as it otherwise would have been: but the season, in other respects, has been very favorable to the vine; the grapes are nearly ripe. Their juice is richer than it was last year, consequently the wine of this season will be greatly superior in quality to that of the preceding year. For ten years past there has been vines old enough to bear in this neighborhood, and the frost has never injured them worth mentioning, until last spring; and however discouraging it must appear to the vine dresser to see the fruits of his assidious labor cut off in one cold night, he is consoled in the hopes that such inclemencies of weather may not occur for many years, and that by a succession of abundant crops he will be amply rewarded.

It is to be hoped that those persons having farms suitable for that purpose, will turn their attention in some measure to this important branch of agriculture, and follow the example of the Swiss settlers who carry it on with success, and to whom it is a source of wealth. Ten years of successful experience have proved, that the borders of the Ohio, at least in this neighborhood, are well adapted to the culture of two kinds of vines, and in course of time new kinds may be introduced, perhaps more productive and of a better quality: some objections may be made to the plan on which those vines are reared, and I would recommend experiments on different plans, as well as the introduction of other species of vines: but in the mean time I would inform the public, that the vines now cultivated, and the plans on which they are trained, are more profitable to the husbandmen than any other branch of agriculture carried on in this country.

ALEXANDRIA.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25.

Capt. Livingston, of the British brig gnes, informs us, that just before he ft Jamaica, the governor in chief of the uracas had addressed a letter to Admi-al Douglas, on the Jamaica station, acompanying one from Gen. Don Pablo Morillo, in which that General states, hat in consequence of his success against he Patriot, Insurgents, as he denominates hem, he had relinquished the blockade f the cast, which he had previously esablished. The Governor added that in onsequence of this act of Morillo's, the whole coast is now free to every friendly

Robbery.—The Bank of Philadelphia was entered during Saturday or Sunday night and robbed of a considerable sum in specie and notes, and some plate. The villains appear to have been furnished with suitable implements for effecting their purpose, as every lock, desk and chest was opened and searched; except ing only the fire proof vault, which fortu nately baffled all their force and art. Had they succeeded here, the loss to the bank and individuals would have been im mense. Phil. Gaz.

FONDNESS FOR WAR.

We repeat it without fearing or regarding the sneers of our brother Rdi tors, that it is the evident wish of a certain set of men, (we hope and believe, a small minority) in our country, unnecessarily to involve us in war. We are now at peace, and may easily continue so.—Now is the time to husband our resources, to pay off our national debt—to diminish the burdens which oppress our people—to re-establish public credit: to promote union and harmony among all classes of citizens—and generally to fix on a firm and permanant basis the free institutions which bless our country. WAR IS ALWAYS AN EVIL, and should never be resorted to, except on occasions of unquestionable propriety. There may be cases, but they are extremely rare, when a nation, remote from contending powers and uninterested in their disputes, may with justice to itself become involved with them.—We consider it however certain, that undertaking to aid every feeble power, which may appear to be resisting oppression, would be the height of folly, the extreme of quixotism. We wish success to the Patriots of South America; we hope they may establish their independence, and we hope too, though our hopes are intermingled with many fears, that they may prove themselves capable of enjoying their independence and rightly using their liberty. But does it therefore follow, that we ought to precipitate ourselves into the contest—that situated as we are, still sore from the effects of our late engagement, and groaning under a load of taxes, we should buckle on our armor, and engage in a general crusade against the tyrants and oppressors of our fellow men? Are we to be governed by our feelings alone? Are no considerations of expediency to influence us? Shall we not be permitted to count the cost and anticipate the consequences? We have witnessed with regret the evident disposition of certain politicians [who are not however very foward to expose their own persons to the dangers and difficulties of war] to involve our country in constant hostility.

What the motives of these men are, we shall not undertake to say but we shall conclude this article by again repeating the language uttered by the Virginia Legislature in 1798. "We humbly and fervently implore the almighty Disposer of events to avert from our land War and usurpation, the scourges of mankind: to permit our fields to be cultivated in PEACE: to instil into nations the love of friendly intercourse; to suffer our youth to be educated to virtue and to preserve our morality from the pollution, invariably incident to habits of war: to prevent the laborer and husbandman from being harrassed by taxes and imposts, to remove from ambition the means of disturbing the commonwealth, to annihilate all pretexts for power afforded by WAR: to maintain the constitution, and to bless our nation with tranquility under whose benign influence we may reach the summit of happiness and glory to which we are destined by nature and by Nature's God."—Western Monitor.

ST. JOHN'S, N. B. Sept. 28.

We learn that the commissioners under the 4th and 5th articles of the treaty of Ghent, between his majesty and the U. States of America, met and opened their respective commissions at St. Andrews, in this province, on the 23d inst. The 4th article relates to the islands in Passamaquoddy bay, and the island of Grand Menan, in the Bay of Fundy: and the 5th, to the eastern boundary line of the United States, to be traced and surveyed from the river St. Croix to the river Iroquois or Catarraguy, according to the 2d article of the treaty of 1783. We understand that Col. Barclay, late Hi Majesty's Consul General for the eastern states, and the hon. Ward Chipman of this province, who acted, the former as commissioner, the latter as agent, on the part of his majesty, under the 5th article of the treaty of 1794, for determining the true river St. Croix, are again employed in the same capacities, under both the above mentioned articles of the present treaty. The hon. John Holmes, of Massachusetts, met Col. Barclay as the American Commissioner under the 4th, and Cornelius Van Ness, Esq. of Vermont, under the 5th article. It is said that the American claim, advanced under the 4th article, extends to all the Islands in Passamaquoddy Bay, as well as to Grand Menan. Both commissions, we hear, are adjourned, to meet in Boston, in the month of May next.

"Life makes the soul dependant on the dust,
"Death gives her wings to mount above the spheres."

Died, on the 11th inst. at Oakvill, her residence in Westmoreland County, Virginia, Mrs. ELIZA THOMPSON, relict of the late Doctor George Thompson.—She had a lingering and painful illness, which she bore with Christian fortitude and resignation. This excellent lady was possessed of those engaging and valuable endowments which endeared her to her relatives, and secured to her the respect and affection of all those who knew her. She had long felt an indifference for the pomps and vanities of the world, preferring domestic pursuits and retirement to the tumult and dissipation of a fashionable course of life. This disposition was connected with that fear of God, and love of religion, which constitutes the ornament and crown of all human excellence; and without which, indeed no external or intellectual acquisition is of any real value. During her last illness, her thoughts were principally engaged with the important concerns of death and eternity: and though she had at all times some dread of the pains of dissolution, yet the prospect of a glorious immortality, purchased by her Saviour's blood, disarmed death of his terrors, and after commending her soul into the hands of her merciful Redeemer, she bid adieu to this world of tribulation, with an assured hope of enjoying peace in Heaven: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: yea, saith the spirit, they rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

On Friday morning last, to the southward of Cape Henry a boat from the brig Catharine, Eldred from Baltimore for Charleston, containing Mr. Lecatt, pilot of this place, and two of the brig's crew, in rowing towards the sloop was capsized by a heavy swell, when nearly a mile between the two vessels.—Mr. Lecatt and one of the hands stuck to the bottom of the boat, the other caught a plank, where they remained until observed by the Borealis, who ran down and providently saved them from a watery grave. The brig being to the leeward and her long boat stowed on deck, was unable to afford the timely assistance necessary. Mr. Lacatt returns thanks to capt Andrews and crew, for their humanity and exertions.

Falmouth, Jamaica, bound to Philadelphia, with a cargo of rum, sugar, coffee, pimento and molasses, which vessel was totally dismasted and lost her rudder in a severe gale on the 27th, and otherwise damaged, having sprung aleak and split her sails in a gale which continued from the 19th to the 22d September, in the gulph of Florida. Took off fr. the wreck H. O. Dunbar and Daniel Johnson, passengers, and three of the crew. The schooner Golden Age, capt. Adderton, bound for Washington, N. Loss of the Sloop Frolic.

Captain Kennedy, late of the sloop Frolic, arrived in town yesterday from St. Augustine, via Savannah, and furnished the following particulars of the loss of that vessel:

The sloop Frolic, capt. Kennedy, of this port, sailed from Havana, bound home, on the 15th Sept. On the 19th, off Cape Florida, experienced a severe gale of wind, which continued until the 23d. On the 26th, she was encountered by a second heavy blow, which continued till the 29th, off Charlesten Bar, which drove her out of her course as far as St John's East Florida. In this gale she was so much disabled in sails, rigging, etc. that capt. K. was compelled to make for St. Augustine, and at midnight on the 29th, was driven on the north point of Anastatia Island, crew and cargo saved, though the latter was much damaged. She was so much damaged by beating over St Augustine Bar, that both vessel and cargo were sold for the benefit of the underwriters. The Frolic was owned by Mr. John Lewis, and had a cargo of coffee, molasses and fruit. Passengers in the Frolic, Messrs. Pedro Morales, Jose Delores, and Jose Martelo.

SULLY FOR SALE.

THIS estate, situated in the county of Fairfax, twenty-two miles from Alexandria and the same distance from Georgetown, contains about seven hundred and fifty acres. Little River Turnpike passes through it half a mile from the dwelling house. The situation is handsome, and remarkably healthy; the water is good and abundant. The soil, which was originally excellent, has for some years past had the advantage of improving husbandry, Plaister of Paris acting with powerful and immediate effect on all grasses and grains. The fields present a good surface for cultivation; and those, now unfilled, are covered with red clover. The orchards are very large and thrifty; the collection of table fruit is choice and various. The mansion is spacious and well constructed; the outhouses are all conveniently situated; those for farming purposes are expensive, and excellent in their kind.

For a gentleman of leisure this would be a delightful residence; and a profitable estate to an active farmer. The title is indisputable, and perfectly unincumbered.

A number of well taught orderly young men, with good stocks and farming utensils of all kinds, and the crops of the present year if desired, will be at the command of the purchaser.

Application may be made to the subscriber, living on the premises, next the post office at Pleasant Valley, in Fairfax.
